my day @ mpa - lil' buds & sprouts

Morning Arrival

Greeted with an I Love You Ritual, children participate in a special game, song, or chant to create a strong bond between your child and their teacher.

Baby Doll Circle Time

Children experience being the nurturer by interacting with their baby dolls in the same ways that we, as caregivers, interact with them.

These activities promote the secure attachments that are vital to children's lifelong success.

Snack & Mealtime

Even snack time is an opportunity to learn!

Children work on independence and life skills as they set the table, serve themselves, and clean up afterwards!

Outdoor Exploration

Whether they are planting veggies in our garden or pedaling the trails of our trike track, our students will experience all aspects of mother nature.

Your child will enjoy the fresh air a minimum of four times throughout the day, RAIN or shine!

Quiet Time

As your child gets older, they take on more responsibility for their own naptime set up; picking up blankets, making their bed, and setting up their cot.

Learning Domains

Each day, children have a range of activity choices that will provide opportunities to express creativity, solve child-size problems, and encourage curiosity in the following learning domains: language development, social and emotional development, cognitive development, and physical development.

Language Development

Each week new sign-language word is introduced as an alternative means of communication to reduce your child's stress as they continue to build their ability to express their big feelings!

Enrichment Centers

Small-group workstations are set up throughout the room for children to work on tasks that are specifically designed to support daily objectives and concepts. Your child can choose centers that align to their own interests in construction, creative arts, fine motor skills, gross motor skills, literacy, mathematics, practical life, science, and sensory exploration.

Music & Movement

Music is embedded in all aspects of your child's day.

They will love moving to the beat in our covered patios and large gymnasium while creating their own melodies with child-size instruments.

Social and Emotional Development

Although your child may be small, they still have BIG emotions!

We validate our student's right to express their feelings and provide them with a Safe Place and breathing strategies to help with self-regulation.
